

his/her daughter or son to involve in such permanent relationship. Moreover Indian society prefer virgin girl While in Livingin-Relationship a boy and girl live like husband-wife without any legal formalities. In brief, it is not safe for a girl because our Indian girl is not much independent and bold that they could carry responsibility independently.

Reena: How can we make balance between young generation and old generation? What are the remedies?

Dr. D. R. Sharma: Every where nature plays the game. Changes come time to time everywhere. If we could able to mold the thought of young generation as well as old generation easily we can make balance between young generation and old generation.

Reena: Today is the age of science and technology and you are performing your duty with quite old method without the help of any instrument and medicine. Do you believe you are success in your field?

Dr. D.R. Sharma: I would like to say in one word "Spirituality begins when science ends". More than 50 patients had been attended by me who were totally dissatisfied with allopathic treatment.

Reena: Thanks for providing such rich information.

Dr. D.R. Sharma: Thanks to you also.

FIVE SISTERS & I

I was youngest among my five sisters. All were beautiful except me. But people used to tell that I have sharp feature. The only thing that my complexion was little dark. Due to darkness, my parents love me little less. But my sisters loved me very much. They used to tell what happened if you are little dark, get good education, you would see people will praise you for your wisdom. Your face cut is pretty. You will look beautiful as you grow. I felt assured by their words. I used to devote my whole energy in study. Every one knew that I was better to them in study what ever I read I remembered.

Days passed and slowly slowly we all sisters became one by one marriageable. But during this period one thing happened there. Some quarrel rose during marriage of my second sisters. My sister went her in laws house after farewell. But after every two three months we got message that they want more things otherwise they will send my sister back, mother was free from anxiety. She thought, what will happen. Let her have one or two children, everything will be normal. But it did not happen as my mother thought. Didi was sent back by in laws. We became very sad but there was no way. There was no other earning member except father and it was not possible to fulfill the demand of in laws.

You can say what was necessity to select high status family for marriage. In fact my neighbour Arti Didi was married in the same way. She was well educated and as beautiful as my sister. Though my uncle was not rich but he has desire to marry his daughter in reputed family. My uncle has handed over the lists of articles what he wanted to give as he found that both bride and groom have accepted each other. He told that he want to give more items than their demand. But he can do one by one. He will be happy if his Daughter will be happy. In the laws agreed and thus marriage took place. Later on neither my father gave any things nor in laws given any pressure for that. Seeing this as his victory my uncle boosted, see how marriage can be done in rich family in less money and my mother did such mistake that she followed uncle' principle and was married Didi as such house but she did not get cultured family like Arti Didi.

After few days of he marriage, brother in law got marry another girl. My sister shocked. Our relatives consoled him and said her "leave him! You are educated, you can also marry" I felt that whenever such discussion held in our home, my sister became unhappy. She believed that one day brother in laws would come back and take her away. People said for marriage but she used to reject.

In between my sister got job in Jeevan Beema Nigam. Due to busy in job she was happy and we were also happy because in our house two have become earning members. my sister earned more than father because the payment of a teacher was limited but my sister got bonus, incentives and other valuable prizes.

On holidays or Sunday, when we were collected in home, my mother set me for the servicing of my sister and I happily engaged myself in her service sometimes I made tea, sometimes I filled up water for her bath, pressed her sarees and made her favorite breakfast. Didi knew that all I had done not on the order of my mother but there was also my acceptance. My sister also loved me. So my sister used to give me 20-25 rupees as pocket money and affectionally she forbidden me not to do such things, devote your time for study. She said, "All over I am not the guest of this house". But sometime emotionally she said that it was not in my luck. When her mood was good, also compelled for marriage but she said "Dear shalu, you do not know, the marriage is not the game of child, whenever you want leave this, whenever you want do it." Definitely one day come when your brother in-law will come and take me away. As everything is fine for male.

I knew that Didi was closely attached with brother in laws. Unless who like step? She used to say, "Shalu1 Now see I will marry you in rich family but there should not be any cheating case. Infact you also marry after checking the nature of prospective family. Thereafter she started crying and said it would be better if I married in normal family. At least I would feel happy there". We did not know how five- six years have been passed away. Everybody exhausted to say didi for marriage but she constantly rejected. Then my mother set marriage of my two sisters after seeing grooms. In this marriage, my sister expended much money according to her capacity. The processions were also satisfied with style of welcome.

My sister was fourteen fifteen years older than me and she became around 40 years old. My father had retired and started living at home. My mother was thinking for my marriage and she was in search. One day, when my sister came back from my office she sweetly hugged me and went to mother and said interruptedly, "mother, I want to say something to you." My mother surprised because she never behaved before like this so she asked, "what?, please speak".

Mother..., you and Shalu used to say me that I should marry. I was thinking that one-day shalu's brother in law would come and take me away and that's why I did not show interest in marriage. But it has been happened for long time and also forget about myself. Mother, one guy is my colleague whose wife is no more. He has a beautiful daughter and he wanted to marry me. I met his daughter, she is pretty girl. Mother...., I did not feel fine to accept his proposal without our acceptance." She was speaking slowly. But my mother got angry and replied, "When we were saying to you for marriage, you rejected. First you have insulted us coming from her in laws home, now at this age you are going to marry, people will laugh at us." My sister without saying anything, she entered her room.

In that year, I got marriage and after two months back I went to foreign. During my farewell, my sister 's eyes were full of tears. Thereafter, she used to send me letter every week according to her promise.

Today, after a long time, I met my sister, seeing her white hair I realize that how many years have been passed. She welcomed us and said sweetly, "Sit Shalu, you might felt exhausted, I prepare tea for you?" And she went in kitchen. Then I started thinking at last who are responsible for the loneliness of Didi, herself Didi, or her luck or mother whose heart had started searching a helper.
